It was eight years into their relationship when Shane Hibberd popped the question to his high-school sweetheart Sarah Pineda. "Shane had surprised me with a mani and pedi at my fave spa. When he picked me up, we went for a walk and the next thing I knew we were in this quiet spot, and he was down on one knee," Sarah smiles. When their W-day arrived, it was an intimate soiree with 60 guests in attendance at the Furry Creek Golf and Country Club, a gorgeous venue overlooking Vancouver's coastline. With a brown and green motif in mind, Shane and Sarah ensured that all their details, from their invites to their cupcakes, followed their theme. "Our venue had an incredible view, and we didn't want to compete with that decor-wise, so we kept it simple," Sarah says. A particularly memorable wedding moment: when Sarah's two cousins surprised the duo by singing the same song that Sarah and her sister had sung 13 years earlier at their uncle's wedding. Post-party, Sarah and Shane jetted off for a honeymoon in Hawaii. "We had such a blast at our wedding and honeymoon," Sarah exclaims. "If there's one thing we'd tell others, it's to plan your wedding the way you want it, decide what's important to you, and definitely don't wait to go on your honeymoon!"
